ITEMS FROM HIGH POINT.
Jarrell Hotel Change Hands—Personal Mention.
High Point, March 5.—The Jarrell Hotel will be under new management after next Thursday. The new proprietor is B. B. Burns, of Ashboro, who for sometime past has successfully conducted a like business in Ashboro. N. H. Slaughter, (Uncle Nick) as he is more familiarly known to the traveling public as well as all here, has proven himself an efficient hotelier, as all that have stopped with him, or who have watched his career, will testify. His patrons will miss his smiling countenance and ever courteous treatment. Mr. Slaughter will devote his time and attention to the Hotel Jarrell, at Lexington, of which he is the present proprietor.

B. B. Burns, of Ashboro arrived here Saturday evening and returned home the following morning, by private conveyance.
Fred N. Tate came up from Charlotte Saturday night, and in company with his wife and children who have been visiting the family of her father, left for home last night.
Miss Bulah Best has returned from an extended visit to relatives and friends in the eastern part of the state. The Herald Square opera company, which organization so delightfully entertained the people last December, will appear here again tomorrow night in the opera house, and it will be safe to say they will be greeted with a good house.

Marvin Jordan the electrician, has accepted the superintendency of the electric light plant at Pinehurst. With pleasure all of his friends will hear of Marvin's promotion.

PROXIMITY BUDGET.
In the Church and Sunday School Day School Reopened.

Telegram Bureau, Proximity.
After a vacation of two or three days, the public school resumed work this morning. Mr. Patterson, the teacher, could not return on account of sickness in his family, but sent his son, G. C. Patterson, who has taken charge of the school.

Miss Lizzie Stewart spent Sunday with her parents and returned to her work in the office this morning.

Mrs. J. M. Allred is still in bad condition, the disease is stubborn and so far has failed to yield to the treatment of the physicians.

Yesterday was a beautiful Sabbath and there were larger congregations than usual at both the Baptist and Methodist churches. There was no service at the Episcopal church yesterday. All the Sunday Schools had an increased attendance.

Miss Marsh, of Greensboro Female College, came out to Proximity Saturday evening to visit her brother.

A boy by the name of Yates, happened to a very painful accident in the factory Saturday afternoon. He fell and broke three ribs and one arm. It is fearful that his injuries will prove fatal.

AT THE CHURCHES.
Items About Some of the Services Yesterday.
Unusually large congregations attended both the morning and evening services at Centenary church yesterday. The pastor, Rev. T. E. Wagg preached two most excellent sermons. The morning sermon was based on the text: "For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day"—II Cor. 4th chapter, 16th verse. At the evening service the sermon was from the text: "The Lord is my portion, saith my soul; therefore will I hope in him."—Lamentations 3rd chapter 24th verse. Both discourses showed careful study and were full of good things.

At West Market street church, Dr. Rowe's pulpit was filled by Rev. T. A. Smoot. The morning sermon was a splendid discourse on the parable of the talents, found in the 25th chapter of Matthew. It was listened to with rapt attention by a large congregation.

Dr. Smith preached at the morning service, First Presbyterian church, from the words: "Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me?" Love was the theme of the discourse, and was treated in a forcible manner. At night the third sermon on the "Creed of Christ" was preached. The leading thought was the estimate Christ placed on a soul, or what he thought a soul was worth. A special feature of the evening service was a beautiful quartette, sung by Mrs. Hagan, Mrs. Porter, Messrs. Cunningham and Rankin.

THE SADNESS OF FINLAND.
The Czar Took Away their Rights and the Women Wear Mourning.

In the Intercollegian, Mr. John R. Mott writes an article which he names "Among the Students of Finland," from which this extract is made:
It is a wonderful land. It has been called the best governed country in Europe. Its humanitarian legislation, its moral reforms, the position it gives to woman, its real democracy, its very high general intelligence, the sincere respect of the people for law and their unfailing loyalty—all these certainly place this country abreast of the most enlightened communities of the world. The people of Finland are remarkably honest and open-minded, intensely patriotic, industrious, warm-hearted, and more than hospitable, sensitive and sympathetic, traits which with both one's intellectual confidence and one's word about recent political events in order to make clearer the conditions under which our visit was made. From the first decade of this century Finland has been a Grand Duchy of Russia. It has been practically an independent principality with liberal institutions and laws, which all the Russian Emperors from Alexander I down to the present Czar have solemnly vowed for themselves and their successors to preserve intact. On February 15th of last year an imperial manifesto was issued, together with a new fundamental law, whereby the constitution of Finland was arbitrarily changed, the Czar decreeing that certain important measures affecting Finland, which, according to the constitution, require the sanction of the Finnish Diet, are hereafter to be decided by the Russian Council of State, the Diet to have only the right to express its opinion.

It has been impressive to see how the people have met this galling oppression. That there have been no riots or disturbances reveals their strength of character. In Helsinki over ten thousand, including the students of the university, gathered in the square around the monument of Alexander II, who had so strongly confirmed their liberties. They laid wreaths at the foot of the monument, sang the national anthem and "Eia feste Burg ist unser Gott," and quietly dispersed. Fresh flowers are placed around the monument each day. In ten days a petition was carried throughout the sparsely settled country and signed by over a half million people, practically all the male population. It was then borne by 400 representatives from all parts of the country to St. Petersburg, but the Czar refused to receive it. The women of the country have put on mourning. At the time of my visit these troubles entered as a sad and touching strain into all conversations, addresses and prayers. History nowhere affords a more touching object lesson of a whole nation bearing with such Christ-like spirit a bitter and colossal wrong.

Finland, like Norway and Denmark, has but one university, and in the case of all the universities of the North, it ranks among the best in the world. It is located at Helsinki. It has 1,200 students, of whom 200 are women, this being a larger number of women students than are to be found in any other continental university, except possibly some of those in Switzerland.

To this the Charlotte Observer adds:
As a result of the high-handed tyranny of Russia, the Finns in desperation, are preparing for self-exile. Hundreds of them will emigrate and naturally they turn to the marvelous young giant of the Occident, the youngest member of the great powers of the globe, far-famed as the home and refuge of the oppressed. The universal testimony as to the character of the Finns bear out the statements of Mr. Mott. There are thousands of better men of immigrant than these people. The North Carolina latch-string hangs on the outside to them. They will be welcomed within our gates.

AS TO CALENDAR CLOCKS.
Why They Are This Month Apparently a Day Behind.

There are a number of calendar clocks in Greensboro and throughout the state, which were set on Thursday, which was the first day of March, the full moon time, place with automatic calendar arrangements registered February 29th. At first blush one would naturally suppose that something was wrong with the clock, but a familiarity with the mechanism of the time piece will explain the apparent irregularity.

By an ingenious device calendar clocks are made to indicate the exact number of days. This says the Philadelphia Record, is effected by means of a month wheel, which makes one revolution a year, and has a tooth for each month, the length of the tooth determining the number of days to be indicated. The tooth for February is on a little four-toothed wheel, which is pivoted on the edge of the month wheel. This wheel completes its revolution on the month wheel every four years. Three of its teeth make the count for February 28 days and the fourth tooth makes the count 29 days. This year the 29 wheel is controlling. But astronomers have decreed that in order to keep the calendar in its present relation to the season, it is necessary to change the natural leap year to a common year when it falls on a century. By setting the clock twenty-four hours ahead all will be made right, and the calendar attachment will record correctly for another century.

SENATORS CAN'T STAND TO THE RACK ON PORTO RICO BILL.

Washington, March, 5.—Interesting investigations have recently been inaugurated by the department of agriculture, which promises, if successful, to promote the development in the southern section of the country of a new industry. The experiment referred to is that of the irrigation of tea at the home of Dr. C. H. Shepard, near Summerville, South Carolina. The labors of Dr. Shepard have already produced interesting results. He has about fifty acres planted in tea, which, when in full bearing, produces each year about ten thousand pounds. Last year it produced about one-third of this amount. His investigations have continued long enough to make it manifest that in any portion of the south where the temperature does not usually fall below 25 degrees and never falls below zero, tea can be successfully grown, but that in order to make it a complete success in all cases, irrigation is necessary. The great obstacle in the way of making the industry a commercial success is the cost of production, and the readiest means of reduction of the cost is to increase the yield per acre. If more pounds per acre can be grown, it means less cost per pound for fertilizers, and for cultivation. Picking will also be made cheaper, because less ground will have to be traversed.

It will probably require several years to fully determine the extent to which this form of agriculture can be extended in the south. Even without the aid of irrigation tea has been grown with profit, but, if, as believed, a material increase can be made in the yield through the addition of this stimulus, and improvement in the quality of the product, as well, there is little reason to doubt that the time is near at hand when this country will have made another significant addition to its capacity to be entirely self-sustaining.

While the travel south during the present winter, according to the officials of the Southern and Seaboard Air Line, has not been quite up to that of last season, yet the number of persons from this city visiting Florida has been quite large. The travel was especially heavy during the month of January and February.

There are at present many prominent Washington people in Florida, among the more prominent being Major General (retired) John A. Schofield and wife, ex-Army General Wayne McVeigh, Senator Quay and family, of Pennsylvania, Mrs. Ames J. Cummings, wife of the well known New York Congressman, Mrs. Townsend Scudder, wife of the member from the First New York district, and the daughters of ex-Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky. Most of the Washington contingent now in the far south will remain in the land of sunshine and flowers until late in the spring.

The opposition to the Porto Rican bill is so strong that many senators are wavering in their determination to pass the measure this session. They hold it up until after the presidential election.

Hurt in a Runaway.
Mr. Riley Fogleman, who lives in the country, near Alamance church, was in the city today with a load of wood. He was driving along South Elm street about noon and had just crossed the railroad when the east-bound train pulled out. The cylinder hooks on the engine were opened and the hissing of escaping steam frightened Mr. Fogleman's mules and they made a dash which threw him head first off the load of wood as the wagon crossed the old C. F. and Y. V. track. The left side of his head and face struck the gravel in the street inflicting an ugly wound. The front wheel of the wagon ran over one leg, but apparently it was uninjured, as he got up and walked away without limping. The mules were stopped near the corner of Fayetteville and Gornell streets, without injury to themselves or the wagon.

TO MAKE A LAST STAND.
THE FREE STATER WILL RETURN TO THE TRANSVAAL.

Conflicting rumors as to Peace and the Continuation of Fighting—Three British Armies in the Field.

London, March 5.—The silence in the war office concerning the movements of the main British army in South Africa continues, though what information leaks through indicates that the campaign is being steadily carried forward. There are now practically three British armies in the field. One in the Free State, another at Cape Colony, and one in Natal. The former is in close touch with a body of Boers estimated at 6,000. Speculation regarding the movements of Roberts are quite worthless, so carefully are the plans concealed.

A dispatch to the Times from Lorenzo Marques dated Sunday says the persistent reports continue to prevail that the Transvaal government has opened negotiations looking towards a curing peace. On the other hand it is stoutly asserted that the Boers will make a stand at Glencoe and Laings Neck, and that in the mean time reinforcements at Pretoria are being extended in anticipation of a siege. It is stated that a high authority at Bloemfontein says in the event of a rupture the Free State troops will retire towards the Transvaal and make a last stand with their brethren.

PHILIPPINES PRECARIOUS.
Still in a Ferment and There Are Traitors Everywhere.

Manila Dispatch, 3rd.
Reports reach the Associated Press from various sources, including army officers and the heads of commercial houses with agents throughout the islands, of continued activity among the insurgents, who are endeavoring to keep alive the armed opposition to the United States, and are planning to continue the insurrection with guerrilla warfare on a larger scale, when the rainy season begins. A person holding a position second only to that of the governor-general tells the Associated Press that he is convinced that the insurgent organization has been remarkably reorganized during the past month, particularly in the northern provinces. He says the insurgents have a secret organization patterned after the Katipunan methods, even the strongest garrisoned towns affording perfect means of communication, and that the machinery is managed from Manila, some of the leaders being Filipinos pretending to be supporters of the American administration, many of the municipal governments installed by the army forming part of the machinery. Two correspondents of leading weeklies, who have traveled for a month in Benguet and Ilocos, with letters from insurgent chiefs, going alone fifty miles from garrisons and being everywhere hospitably received, say the people make no secret of their sympathy with the insurrection. Though admitting that the Filipino soldiers abuse them, they still protect these soldiers from the American scouting parties. The organization has communication with Aguinaldo.

Paterno, in the northern mountains of Manila, is full of civil and military officials of all ranks of Aguinaldo's government, who were compelled to surrender and who were brought here and released on promises to refrain from agitation. While many of the insurgent municipal officers were continued in office on taking the oath of allegiance, residents who are a quality of with them, have little faith in their adherence to their promises. All the civil officials of Tarlac, capital of the province of that name, numbering 11 persons, have been arrested charged with plotting, and two insurgent agents have been captured at Malabon, with incriminating papers and $4,000 collected from the natives. Some of the municipal governments appear loyal and efficient. On the other hand, one American general declares he believes the majority in his province are agents of the insurrection. A fresh issue of insurgent pamphlets is being issued, asserting that the American promises of good government are merely a mask for commercial exploitation of the Philippines, quoting Senator Beveridge's speech as an editorial from a Washington newspaper, headed, "Let Us Be Honest."

We received this morning direct from the factory a shipment of girls shoes, button and laced, to sell at $1.25 to $1.50, which we consider the best shoes for the price we have ever handled. They are neat, good-looking shoes, and at the same time stout and serviceable. We will take pleasure in showing you these shoes and believe you will like them and find them satisfactory in every way. SITUATION IN AFRICA.
Spencer Wilkinson's Summing up on Saturday Night.

Spencer Wilkinson, reviewing the situation in South Africa for the Associated Press at midnight Saturday says: "General Buller seems to have been surprised to find that he had beaten the Boers on Tuesday. Nothing is commoner in war than for an army, after hard fighting, to be doubtful of the extent of its success. Few generals learn, as Grant did in his first command, 'that the enemy was as much frightened of me as I was of him.' The question is now as to the future course of the campaign. There cannot be much doubt as to the issue provided no foreign powers or power interfere." "Lord Roberts can either order General Buller, with the 40,000 men of the united Natal army to advance on Pretoria, while he himself moves by Bloemfontein and the Free State Railway, or he can bring round most of Buller's force to re-enforce his own army. In either case the Boer strategists will have a hard task to make a promising plan of campaign. The best Boer plan, perhaps, to leave the rear guard to cover the passage from Natal and to concentrate all the rest of their forces to resist Lord Roberts. In this way they might in a week from now meet Lord Roberts, with perhaps equal numbers, but Roberts will be re-enforced from week to week, while the Boers cannot be for the moment. The positions seem that there are 6,000 or 7,000 Boers within striking distance of Roberts at Oosfontein. If this is the case he will either disperse or capture the small Boer force unless it retreats rapidly until reinforced. Lord Roberts will probably continue to push forward a small force on the attacking line and raise the siege while he is drawing the principal Boer army on to himself.

WILL IT BE TO A FINISH?
From a standpoint of actual military achievement and so far as accomplishing what they set out to do, the English successes in South Africa have not been great. So far they have only put themselves in a position to do something. An insignificant 25,000 British soldiers were supposed to be enough to whip the Transvaal and the Orange Free State, the allied republics, into submission. Instead of marching serenely to Pretoria and taking charge of things, the British unexpectedly found themselves besieged on their own territory, their army driven back, three important points captured, and the utmost exertions of all the forces they could muster unable to do more than receive a drubbing whenever the enemy was encountered, and after months of war they had not set foot on the enemy's territory.

After all, the British are about where they started, except for the advantage which, for a better word might be called moral, derived from having gained a victory over their foes. Of course the effect from this point of view is tremendous. The spirit of an army or a people in time of war is everything. There is little doubt that the stiff neck of the Boers has been broken and their high spirits gone. It is also true that the spirit of the English has been rising proportionately. A dispatch in Saturday's paper stated that President Kruger had made a speech and told the people that the Almighty and justice would bring the war to a successful termination. This is a pretty sure sign that Oom Paul has lost confidence in his own ability to do so, and that he, like everybody else, recognizes that the beginning of the end has commenced.

England has been in mortal terror lest her slow progress should give the European powers both the heart and an excuse for interference. There is little doubt that they would have been glad of a safe opportunity for doing so. But now, with the success of Great Britain, and her manifest determination not only to carry the war to a successful close, but to defy any continental power that presumes to trespass upon her rights, there is every reason to believe that she will be unmolested in her attempt to forever settle in her favor the Boer controversy. Now the question is, how much more fighting will be necessary to do that. There is little doubt that the war will go on for some time, how long depends solely upon the Boer endurance. Every indication is that there will be plenty more of bloodshed. The Boers will soon be fighting in desperation, the bloodiest of all fighting, and aided by their natural advantages, they may yet carry out President Kruger's statement that the world will be astonished at the bloodshed before the Transvaal is subdued.

After referring to the anticipated defeat of Judge Ewart, and expressing the opinion that Senator Pritchard could have the appointment, and immediate confirmation if he desired, the Charlotte Observer says:
"But it is equally true, perhaps, that Senator Pritchard does not want this position, and it is passing strange. The salary is the same as that of a Senator and the appointment is for life, with the privilege of retiring on full pay at 70 years of age after ten years service. The duties are light and the position is in all respects one of the most desirable under the government. Why Senator Pritchard or any one should prefer the turmoil and uncertainties of active politics to a easy and well-paying life place like this, passes understanding. And yet men do."

And they do for the very reason that such jobs are quiet and free from turmoil. Some men are built for hard work, a lively time, and Senator Pritchard seems to be one of these.

The news contained in a Manila dispatch of Saturday, copied in this paper, is disgusting. With the assurance, some ten days ago, that the war was over, the country could hardly be prepared for this. It ought to teach the war department, what the country has thought for a long time, that the war is not over till Mr. Aguinaldo is judged.

BUCKING MAJOR GUTHRIE.
Charlotte Observer Special.
Durham, March 3.—P. S. Hill, of New York, has been appointed temporary receiver of Blackwell's Durham Tobacco company. The appointment was made by Judge Simonon, of the United States Circuit court, at Charleston, S. C., yesterday, and Hill qualified in Raleigh to-day, and gave bond in the sum of $50,000. He arrived here this afternoon and is now in charge. The matter is made returnable in Charleston on April 17th, when a permanent receiver will be appointed, and order for sale of the factory made. The application for a receiver was made by a majority of the stockholders of the company in order to settle up business and divide assets. Those making application represents more than 99 per cent. of the stock. The action is against the Blackwell Durham Tobacco company, W. A. Guthrie and others, of the minority stockholders. There will be no stoppage of the factory. This afternoon every employee of the factory was discharged and immediately re-employed by Receiver Hill. Mr. Hill was connected with Blackwell Durham Tobacco company for quite awhile and is now secretary of the American company. His bond is $50,000 and was given with B. N. Duke as surety.

This is really a move on the part of the American Tobacco company to offset last week that application was made to repeal the charter and appoint a receiver for the Blackwell company. Papers in the case were served here late this afternoon by United States Marshal Merritt, of Raleigh.

WHAT FOR SUPERINTENDENT.
Democrat Objects to Hebane and Suggests Another Plan.
Editor of The Telegram:
I see a good many of our state paper advocate the nomination of C. H. Hebane by the Democratic State convention to succeed himself as superintendent of public instruction.

Mr. Hebane is a republican and has always been one. The state is full of good democrats, fully competent to fill the place. We have one right here in Guilford county who has been connected with the public schools of North Carolina for many years. He is a graduate of our State University and is not a more competent man in North Carolina. Guilford county will present him at our state convention as a Simon pure democrat. His name is Prof. Jesse R. Wharton. A Democrat.

ROBBED THE GRAVE.
A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides; no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at C. E. Holton's drug store.

STORY OF A SLAVE.
To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. Geo. D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle-working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run-down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

REUMATISM—CATARRH—DISEASES CURED BY B. B. B.
It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated oils, blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure and so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address: Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

HUMAN SACRIFICES.

MODERN RELIGIOUS FANATICS WHO BELIEVE IN THEM.

Many Peculiar Sects in the Old World. Particularly in Russia. Whose Members Kill and Crucify That Salvation May Be Attained.

That human sacrifices have been made even in the nineteenth century, and by professing Christians, too, is brought out by The American Journal of Sociology in a striking article. The Convolutions, a sect existing in Paria about 1700, were wont to crucify members of their order. In emulation of the crucifixion of the Saviour, the belief that the souls of the surviving members would be saved by the sacrifices of their fellows. In 1817 the "Paschians," an Austrian sect, murdered a man, his wife and daughter, under the delusion that the trio, who refused to go with the fanatics, were possessed of the devil. On the following day they crucified one of their own number, a girl of 19 years, who had suffered herself for the death, in imitation of the death of the Saviour, in order to save the souls of her fellow believers.

In 1823 the leader of a Pietistic sect in Switzerland, after having dispatched her sister, who gave her body in a means of saving the souls of her relatives, was crucified by her followers at her own command in order that she might die, rise again after three days and restore the life of the devotee. In 1825 two mothers, adherents of the "Holy Men," slew their sick children, believing them to be victims of demoniacal possession. In 1826 a Hungarian miller, belonging to the "Nazarenes," killed his son as an offering for his own sins after the fashion of Abraham. In 1870, in Irkutsk, Russia, one of the "Schismatics" convinced himself by prayer and fasting and much Scripture reading that to save his soul he must be crucified. Accordingly he attempted self-crucifixion and succeeded so far as the circumstances of the case would permit.

In 1830, in the government of Perm, Russia, a peasant killed his child as an offering for his sins and buried the body in an ant hill. Likewise, in the government of Vladimir, another peasant killed both his children in due Abrahamian form, and while the babies bled under the father's life the devotee was crucified the service by reading aloud selected portions of the twenty-second chapter of Genesis. In 1854, in the government of Tambov, Russia, a peasant murdered his wife and child, and a man must have a sin to repent of, killed a neighbor with an ax in order to satisfy this highly imperative condition.

It is a part of the creed of the "Wanderers," a Russian sect, that anti-Christ rules in high places there and that accordingly good men must be made to do with governmental affairs of the world. In conformity with this belief a man murdered in various ingenious ways 25 men, women and children, including his own wife and babies, in order to free them from the danger of losing their souls by suffering the contaminating contact of the government census taker. This occurred in 1807.

The "Devilers," another quite interesting Russian sect, believe that evil taints all earthly good and that the only escape is death. In 1825 60 of these men, strong in the faith, after having murdered their wives and children, permitted themselves to be put to death, one by one, by their leaders. The "Scourgers," who also form a widespread and influential sect in Russia, in obedience to the behests of their "saviors," are in the habit of indulging in human sacrifices, cannibalistic feasts, erotic dances and other lewd procedures as an extremely efficacious method of keeping the devil from off their immortal souls. So the "Muckers" of Konigsberg and the celebrants of the black mass in Paris afford further examples of the use of a ritual of enormity, coupled with practice of the most abandoned and unwholesome behavior, to promote the eternal welfare of the soul.

She Had Read About It.
One day a boy was missing from a schoolroom in one of the town public school buildings. The teacher looked around and failed to see the familiar face.

"Does any pupil know why Tommy McGregor isn't in school today?" she inquired.

There was no answer. The teacher repeated the query. Then a little girl slowly lifted her hand.

"Please, ma'am," she said, "I know." "And why does he stay away, Mary?"

"Please, ma'am, it's 'cause he's got measles inside." Mary had read the contagious disease card that was tacked on the front of the house—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Editor's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
During the early part of October, 1896, I contracted a bad cold, which settled on my lungs and was neglected until I feared that consumption had appeared in an incipient stage. I was constantly coughing and trying to expel something which I could not. I became alarmed and after giving the local doctor a trial bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the result was immediate improvement, and after I had used three bottles my lungs were restored to their healthy state.—B. What Tesla Selected.

Thomas Edison used to have Nikola Tesla working for him in his "Pulton" near Paris. Tesla came to him one day asking for work, and Edison, who needed help, referred him to the foreman, named Fulton. The latter told the young man to wait on condition that he would work. Tesla did. For three days and nights he never closed his eyes. At the end of the first fortnight he had not had 48 hours sleep all together and Fulton, the foreman, made him take a rest. He also said to the young man that on account of the strain they had both been under they had better have a good meal.

Accordingly the foreman and the student went to a well known cafe on one of the boulevards and got one of the biggest and thickest steaks possible. It was a whopping and seemed to be overwhelming for two. Besides, the garnishings were liberal, and there was enough good wine. Between them, however, they managed to make every drop of the wine, and the steaks were turned to Tesla, asked him if there was anything else he would like. "You're out with me, you know, and whatever you want just order it." Tesla said, "I want a good meal for a minute, as if making up his mind, and then hesitatingly said, "Mr. Fulton, if you don't mind I would like another steak."—San Francisco Argonaut.

His Mistake as to American Girls.

A Louisville girl who was recently in Germany met a young English officer who was in the same city, and in fact, in the same hotel. She was there for two months, studying German for his promotion. Like most Europeans, he had the usual absurd ideas about the girls of this country, who, in the minds of the "old world," are supposed to be "hoyden creatures, who smoke and have other masculine traits."

After dinner one day in the early acquaintance of the couple the Englishman, who was a smoker, lit a cigarette, and upon her refusing it he said: "Why, I thought all the girls in the United States smoked."

"So we do," replied the girl, "but not smoking tobacco, only pipes. If you will get that pipe of the mantelpiece in the next room I shall be charmed to smoke with you."

Not suspecting the joke she was playing, the Englishman brought the pipe and filled it, and it was not until he saw the very faces his friend made in attempting to carry out the joke that he appreciated the truism.

Consumption.

Pulmonary tuberculosis is not a contagious, but only a communicable disease. The contact per se of the consumptive individual does not convey the disease. It is now well known that it is mainly the care of consumptives that which, when dried and pulverized to dust, constitutes the main danger of infection. The means to prevent infection from tuberculosis expectoration are—expectoration only in proper receptacles, "I pocket flasks, proper use of handkerchiefs during coughing, etc.—are now also universal.

It is absolutely demonstrated that a tuberculosis patient, if he takes proper care of his expectoration, does not constitute any danger to his fellow men. In sanatoria and hospitals exclusively devoted to the care of consumptives, it is of the rarest occurrence for an attendant to contract the disease, the hygienic precautions being so thorough. It may indeed be said that in the case of the consumptive, rather than outside of them.—Dr. S. A. Knopf in Forum.

Boomerangs Not New.
The Australian aborigines are not the only users of the boomerang, nor were they the first to use that missile. The Egyptians knew all about it, just as they seem to have known all about everything else. At the present day the boomerang is used by some American Indian tribes and by the Dravids of the Indian peninsula. The missile used by the last named differs in that it is thicker than the usual form and does not return to the thrower. The return of the boomerang is due to the action of the wind, the shape of the weapon and the manner in which it is thrown.

CHANGES IN THE TONSORIAL ART

Colored Barber B-law Replicated by White Men in Greensboro.

The Charlotte Observer calls attention to the fact that until about five years ago there were not more than a dozen white barbers in North Carolina, but today there are at least 150, and more constantly coming in. The Observer says:

"Shaving had become the dignified and lucrative business of the colored man. Native white boys would not think of going into a barber shop for work. The competition would have brought them to the level of the negro. A few shops were exceptions to the general rule.

"The influx of white barbers to this state began five or more years ago. There were quite a number of young men of German descent among the ones that first came. These were from the north and west. Though white people were at the start prejudiced against the white barbers, they soon recognized skill and training. The number has increased from year to year. The barrier having been removed, many native young men have gone into the trade. It was found comparatively lucrative, and a clever workman can earn from $10 to $15 per week at the trade."

It has been but a few years since the colored man enjoyed a monopoly of the tonsorial art in Greensboro. By some means he was regarded as peculiarly adapted to the demands of the business, and no one ever thought of looking to be more than a servant behind a chair and d-dly handling the kneed-edge razor.

But along with the revolutions and changes in many other lines of business came the white barber. His advent was looked upon with disfavor by the colored barbers and with a degree of suspicion by most white men, but time changed the disfavor into resignation and the suspicion was outlived. Instead of being brought to the level of the negro, it was recognized that the white barber had added respectability to the calling, and he was not long in securing his share of patronage.

For a long while there was only one "white" barber shop in Greensboro, but now there are three, with another soon to be opened. The larger towns of the state, and many of the smaller ones, have white barbers, and the time may not be far distant when the business of this section will be entirely under their control, as it is in the north and west.

FOR THE BABIES.

There is no better medicine for the babies than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Its pleasant taste and prompt effect make it a favorite with mothers and small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds, preventing pneumonia or other serious consequences. It also cures croup and has been used in tens of thousands of cases without a single failure so far as we have been able to learn. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. In cases of whooping cough it quickens the expectoration, making it easier to cough up, and lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, thus depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences. For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

PREVENTED A TRAGEDY.

Timely information given Mrs. George Long, of New Strausville, O., prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had kept her awake every night. She tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

SGROFULA AND ITS AWFUL HORRORS

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

A MOST WONDERFUL CURE.

A Grand Old Lady Gives Her Experience. Mrs. Thankful Orilla Hurd lives in the beautiful village of Brighton, Livingston Co., Mich. This venerable and highly respected lady was born in the year 1812, the year of the great war, in Hebron, Washington Co., New York. She came to Michigan in 1840, the year of "Tippecanoe and Tyler too." All her faculties are excellently preserved, and possessing a very retentive memory, her mind is full of interesting reminiscences of her early life, of the early days of the State of Michigan and the interesting and remarkable people she has met, and the stirring events of which she was a witness. But nothing in her varied and manifold recollections are more marvelous and worthy of attention than are her experiences in the use of JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA. Mrs. Hurd inherited a tendency and predisposition to scrofula, that terribly destructive blood taint which has cured and is curing the lives of thousands and marking thousands more as victims of the death angel. Transmitted from generation to generation, it is found in nearly every family in one form or another. It may make its appearance in dreadful running sores, in unsightly swellings in the neck or groin, or in eruptions of varied forms. Attacking the mucous membrane, it may be known as catarrh in the head, or developing in the lungs it may be, and often is, the prime cause of consumption.

Speaking of her case, Mrs. Hurd says: "I was troubled for many years with a bad skin disease. My arms and limbs would break out in a mass of sores, discharging yellow matter. My neck began to swell and became very unsightly in appearance. My body was covered with scrofulous eruptions. My eyes were also greatly inflamed and weakened, and they pained me very much. My blood was in a very bad condition and my head ached severely at frequent intervals, and I had no appetite. I had been also in my early years in a miserable condition, I had tried every remedy that had been recommended, and doctor after doctor had failed. One of the best physicians in the state told me I must die of scrofulous consumption, as internal abscesses were beginning to form. I at length was told of Dr. Johnston, of Detroit, and his famous Sarsaparilla. I tried a bottle, more as an experiment than anything else, as I had no faith in it, and greatly to my agreeable surprise, I began to grow better. You can be sure I kept on taking it. I took a great many bottles. But it steadily improved until I became entirely well. All the sores healed up, all the bad symptoms disappeared. I gained perfect health, and I have never been troubled with scrofula since. Of course an old lady of 83 years is not a young woman, but I have had remarkably good health since then, and I firmly believe that JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA is the greatest blood purifier and the best medicine in the world, both for scrofula and as a spring medicine." This remarkably interesting old lady did not look to be more than sixty, and she repeated several times, "I believe my life was saved by JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA."

If ever superstition could find excuse, it would be when the expectant mother, calendar in hand, ponders the uncertain future of her baby's birth. Why not? The child's stock of health is what the mother supplies. The stock and worried woman has a very tender stock of health to bestow on the baby.

Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes mothers healthy and happy. It goes away with the misery of morning sickness. It strengthens the nerves, gives the body a feeling of buoyancy, makes the mind cheerful, gives vigor and activity to the organs peculiarly sensitive and baby's advent to the world free from danger and painless.

For two months I was under the care of your doctor, but was getting weaker all the time until I sent and got your Favorite Prescription. I improved fast and continued to take your medicine until baby was born and he is healthy and all right. My health has been good ever since. I now weigh 125 pounds.

There is no alcohol, whiskey or other ingredient in "Favorite Prescription," neither does it contain any opium or other narcotic.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do not rest on the system. They are a perfect medicine.

WINE OF CARDUI

Woman Knows Woman.

Zurich, Kan., Jan. 31.

I used Wine of Cardui for nervousness and weakness in the womb. After taking one bottle I was well again. I am a mother and always recommend Wine of Cardui to my lady friends during pregnancy and after birth as a tonic. Every woman who takes it is sure to feel even better than is claimed for it.

MRS. V. M. BOISVERT.

Nobody knows woman like woman. Men go to medical colleges, study books and listen to lectures. They learn indirectly of the diseases of women, but they are fully and never fully understanding the ailments, the sufferings, the agonies of mothers, wives and sisters. A woman knows. Mrs. Boisvert knows. She has passed through the trials and tribulations of her sex. She has been near by when her sisters suffered. She has seen them relieved and cured with Wine of Cardui. Is it any wonder she recommends it? Is it any wonder that thousands of other women recommend it?

They know. They have actual experience to prompt them. They spread the tidings from mouth to mouth, telling how Wine of Cardui helps young girls, helps the weak of all ages, helps and cures all womanly ills.

Sacrificed to Blood Poison.

Those who have never had Blood Poison can not know what a desperate condition it can produce. This terrible disease which the doctors are totally unable to cure, is communicated from one generation to another, infecting its taint upon countless innocent ones.

Some years ago I was inoculated with poison by a nurse who infected my babe with blood taint. The little one was stricken to the ground and its life was yielded up to the fearful poison.

For six long years I suffered untold misery. I was covered with sores and ulcers from head to foot, and no language can express my feelings of woe during those long years. I had the best medical treatment. Several physicians successively treated me, but all to no purpose. The mercury and potash seemed to add fuel to the awful flame which was devouring me. I was advised by friends who had seen wonderful cures made by the use of Dr. S. S. S. I got two bottles, and I felt hope again revive in my breast—hope for health and happiness again. I improved from the start, and a complete cure was effected. I am now well and happy. It is the only blood remedy which reaches desperate cases.

Miss T. W. Lee, Montgomery, Ala.

Of the many blood remedies, S. S. S. is the only one which can reach desperate cases. It never fails to cure perfectly and permanently the most desperate cases which are beyond the reach of other remedies.

Rev. E. W. Sitzer, W. Canton, N. Y., writes: "I had dyspepsia over twenty years, and tried doctors and medicine without benefit. I was persuaded to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and it helped me from the start. I believe it to be a panacea for all forms of indigestion." It digests what you eat.

My lady fair overboreth Lent, And this is her decree: As sacrifice, the penitent Is going to give up me.

J. I. Berry Loganton, Pa., writes I am willing to take my oath I that was cured of pneumonia entirely by the use of One Minute Cough Cure entirely after doctors failed. It also cured my children of whooping cough, colds, croup, grippe and throat and lung troubles. Children all like it. Mothers endorse it. Howard Gardner.

He's a lucky fellow who can fall in love without hurting him.

Mrs. Calvin Zimmerman, Milesburg, Pa., says: "As a speedy cure for coughs, colds, croup and sore throat One Minute Cough Cure is unequalled. It is pleasant for children to take. I heartily recommend it to mothers." It is the only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. It cures bronchitis, pneumonia, grippe and lung diseases. It will prevent consumption. Howard Gardner.

Some people are willing to keep ever; thing that comes their way except Lent.

The Best Medicine For Rheumatism

"I think I would go crazy with pain were it not for Chamberlain's Pain Balm," writes Mr. W. H. Stapleton, Hermantown, Pa. "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for several years and have tried remedies without number, but Pain Balm is the best medicine I have got hold of." One application relieves the pain. Waiting to Be Eaten.

The wasp is not a vegetarian, like the bee, and so the wasp mother has before her the problem of supporting her young with meat. As her eggs are laid out in hot weather and as food enough must be stored in the cell with the egg to mature the young insects, the question is how to preserve the meat fresh for so long a time.

After a time is finished except one end, which is left open, she flies off on a hunt for spiders. She finds a fat, healthy one, pounces upon it, stings it, carries it off and places it in the mud cell. She repeats this process until the tube has, according to her judgment, been needed. She then lays an egg in the cell and waits for the opening.

Whether it is the result of a subtle watch or whether it is a special spot in the spider's nervous system where the sting is inserted we do not know, but certain it is that after being stung the spider lives on in a paralyzed condition for weeks and even months. It can move only slightly and remains helpless in its mud sepulcher until the wasp egg hatches into a voracious grub, which at once falls to and eats with great relish the meat thus miraculously preserved.

Whether the spider can feel pain in this paralyzed state is not known, but it certainly retains its sight and so watches the wasp grub growing, and a spider's natural fear of a wasp would cause ample suffering to atone for its own onslaught on flies.

Peter Cooper Met the Spirits.

During Peter Cooper's lifetime he was a frequent visitor at the home of S. J. Wardness, on Pacific street, Brooklyn.

At one time Mr. Cooper became greatly interested in the spirit manifestations of the Fox sisters and was anxious to investigate their rappings personally, but he did not like to attend one of their public seances, for he feared recognition and consequently a great deal of talk. Finally it was arranged that one of the sisters should spend a night at Mr. Wardness' house and the doughty Peter be invited to meet her.

Miss Fox came, and the spirits came too. The family retired early, Mr. Cooper occupying a bedroom on the opposite side of the hall from that of the fair ally of the supernatural. He was just settling himself comfortably for "a long winter's nap" when a rapping began on the headboard of his bed which sent shivers to his very marrow. It was only the beginning of a "rat, tat, tat," that kept up at intervals during the night in all parts of the room, and before daylight came Mr. Cooper had listened to enough spirits to last him a lifetime. He never said much about the experience, but he never asked to have it repeated.—New York Mail and Express.

Don't Give Up the Ship.

Somewhat more than 50 years ago it happened to me to meet at the house of a mutual friend a daughter of the late Major Benjamin Russell, for many years editor of the Boston Centinel. She was a bright, interesting woman and a brilliant raconteur, and she told me a number of anecdotes of her father, who was a strongly individualized and notable character for a good many years. Among them was the following:

The battle between the Chesapeake and the Shannon took place just off the Massachusetts coast, and a sailor it some way got ashore and hurried to Boston with the news. It was in the night, and he went straight to The Centinel office, where he found Major Russell, to whom he told the story, including the death of Lawrence.

"What were his last words?" said the major.

"Don't know," said the man.

"Didn't he say, 'Don't give up the ship?'"

"Don't know," said the man.

"Oh, he did!" said the major. "I'll make him say it." And he did so much for history.—Hartford Courant.

The Effect of His Face.

An amusing story is told of the expense of Winston Churchill, the author. An old man, seeing the picture of Churchill displayed in the window of a Baltimore bookseller, inquired of a bystander whom it represented.

"Winston Churchill," was the reply.

"Where does he preach?"

Being told that Mr. Churchill was not a preacher, he asked: "Ain't he? What did you say his name is?"

"Winston Churchill. He writes novels."

"Does what?"

"Writes novels."

The man shook his head with a look of pity and declared: "Too bad! Too bad! He has a good face."

At the Examination.

Teacher to little Isidor, who is very poor at fractions—If I need 3/4 yard of cloth for a suit and the cloth costs 2/3 gulden a yard, what will the suit cost?

Isidor—To begin with, teacher, 3 yards would be enough for a suit, and you could get it at our store for 2 gulden. The suit would cost you 6 gulden.—Fliegende Blätter.

"Something Hot."

D'Orray was at a dinner at Dieraff's, which was not of a kind to suit the fashionable gourmet and where everything had been cold. At the end of dinner there was brought in some half melted ice in a dish. "Thank heaven!" said D'Orray. "At last we have got something hot!"—Sir Algernon West's Recollections.

False Doctrine.

School Examiner—What is the meaning of false doctrine?

Schoolboy—Please, sir, it's when the doctor gives the wrong stuff to people who are sick.—Boston Christian Register.
